Re: Kurt Kissmann

I have had a business relationship with Kurt Kissmann for 25+ years. Kurt is a man of his word and keeps his promises. He has experience in construction in many different categories from building apartment complexes, huge commercial buildings, custom homes and several fix & flips in multiple states. Kurt manages the construction plans and drawings, pulling the permits from various government agencies, bank relationships, budgets, hiring the construction crews, managing the vendors and all the way through to the sale of the building to closing with the home owners.

Kurt is a wonderful person and just makes things happen regardless of how complicated the job might become. He has extreme patience and thinks with a mind full of logic and common sense. I would trust Kurt with any construction project. He creates wonderful relationships with people and understands the importance of maintaining those relationships.
